YANGER DECLINED TO MEET M'GARRY

Refused to Give Away Weight and Was Met with Storm of Hisses.

Yanger to fight Amby McGarry marred in a slight way what was one of the best boxing stags ever given in New York, at the Olympic A. C. of Harlem last night. McGarry was overweight, scaling at 144 1-2 pounds, and no amount of coaxing could induce Yanger to overlok the difference. This was made plain to the large crowd was made plain to the large crowd present, and Yanger was hissed and hooted. Then Jack Dorman offered to go against Yanger, but the latter wouldn't have Dorman under any conditions. More hisses greeted this announcement, and there was then no guessing as to who was the most unpopular man in the house. Yanger said he weighed 131 pounds with underwear en.

Matters were finally straightened out, but not to the crowd's satisfaction, by putting Yanger against Joe Lewis, This chap had as much chance with Yanger obick Tucker would have with Jeffries, and he gracefully found a soft spot in the mat in the first round. Up to this time no one could be dug up to fight McGarry. Lew Ryall, who was one of the members present, finally offered to jump into the breach and go on with the Bronx boxer. He did, and considering that he had done no training made a good showing.

Besides these two contests, there were five other bouts which were slashing ones from start to finish. There were two knockouts, Billy Kelly, the Avonia A. C. middleweight, knocking out his opponent in the third round with a right-hand swing on the jaw, while Frankle Paul had no trouble in finishing his man in the first round with a short right-hand jolt on the chin.

$5,000 SAYS HARRIS CAN BEAT ATTELL

Harry Harris, with $5,000 backing, is on the trail of Abe Attell, but Attell, on the trail of Abe Attell, but Attell, for some reason or other, has passed up the chance to pick up the money. A. Hass, a local business man, who thinks Harris is the real thing in a puglistic way, is willing to risk the "yellow boys" if Attell will consent to a ten or fifteen round bout. Attell has shown a slight desire to meet Harris in a three-round bout before one of the local clubs, but Harris's backer says "nix" to this. As some real money hinges on a meeting of this pair, it seems as if out-of-town club matchmakers ought to gen on the job and bring the men together.

Which Went to Henley.

So many statements have been made concerning the hesitation and later stipulations insisted upon by John Cammann in accepting on behalf of Johnny Voorheis the challenge of John Koster for a match contest, that Voorheis has requested The Evening World to make the following statement. Voorheis said:

"I had decided to retire from match game and all other bowling contests belong before the challenge from Koster was made. In fact, I had previous to this challenge refused to meet Jimmy Smith, and also requested Mr. Cammann to find a substitute for me in the Eastern League and other tournaments, as my attention had been turned to billiards and all my time was devoked to my new room at One Hundred and Fifteenth street and Eighth avenue. There were also very strong personal and family reasons why I should give up bowling.

Thay also add that one of the most important reasons for retiring from this sport is that after eight years of hard. The little gladiators, George Bothner oncerning the hesitation and later stipand Alex Swanson, who are to wrestle to-morrow night at Grand Central Palace for the world's lightweight championship, have both put on the finishing touches for their work for the match. Bothner will rest from now until the time comes for him to go on the mar, but it will be necessary for Swanson to do some light road work to keep down to the required weight of 139 pounds ringside. The Swede has had a tough time getting to weight, and it is the fact that this has probably weaknend him that makes Bothner's friends confident that the lightweight title will not change hands.

The question of a referce for the contest still remains unsettled. Bothner and Swanson and the managers of the match will mest to-night at the Hotel Metropole in an effort to straighten out this much mooted question. An evidence of the interest that this contest has aroused is shown by the following letter:

I could have done better in the billiard and pool-room business, in which it has been said that I had some aptitude. In many of the match games I have won I have backed myself, but when I did not have the money for the larger side stakes I was obliged to accept the very small-portion of 10 per cent. if I won. In no other sport is a winner offered such a percentage for pma. Pa.
